Osteoarthritis of the knee treated with energy-free arthroscopic meniscectomy. To evaluate the results of meniscectomy to treat osteoarthritis of the knee performed arthroscopically without using energy. Ten knees of eight patients with symptomatic osteoarthritis of the knee, with a medial or lateral meniscal tear, were treated arthroscopically using the EndoButton technique without any use of energy. The mean age of the patients was 57 years (range 44-77). The mean duration of symptoms before surgery was 2.6 months (range 1-8). The average Tegner activity score was 4.5 (range 2-6) and the average Lysholm score was 68 (range 45-84). The menisci were removed totally in nine cases and partially in one case. Six patients were managed by one single procedure, and two patients by multiple procedures. All patients were subject to a minimum follow-up of 2 years. No patient had been reoperated at the time of review. One patient was reoperated for non-arthrolytic pain 24 months after the initial arthroscopic procedure, but no meniscus was found to be responsible for the symptom. The average preoperative activity score was unchanged at the time of follow-up. No patient had an increase in pain of more than one point in the Lysholm score. The mean Lysholm score at follow-up was 92.5 points (range 84-98), and the mean Tegner activity score was 5.7 points (range 4-7). The only complication was the occurrence of two new meniscal tears which were managed arthroscopically without any sequelae.

Evernote API Goes Free - foxhill ===== jvrossb I think this has some really important implications for the mobile ecosystem. If Evernote apps can be written once and can be used across an entire device/platform, then developers can focus more on the UX and experience of their apps than the usual "here's the code, you're stuck with this legacy platform." (which also implies an increased likelihood of some platform winning out in any given area...) Q: Calculate the integral  $\int \frac{2dx}{e^x-1}$  How to calculate the integral  $\int \frac{2dx}{e^x-1}$  by using integration by parts? A: Substitute  $e^x=t$ , then  $2dx=-\ln(t)\,dt$ , and then  $2dt=\frac{t^2}{t-1}\,dt$ . The integral then is  $\int -\ln(t)\frac{t^2}{t-1}\,dt$

What's new in Room Of Pandora:

Dynamite has been a large contributor to this poll (and mine). Yes, I do think gore and gore and more gore is the way to watch something like Supernatural. Hell, when the episode "Misery Loves Me" was out, there was a claim that coming out of Supernatural that had to do with infesting a TV set into someone's brain with brainworms. That may have already happened? What an awesome episode? I actually watched it too and I cant remember if I'm afraid of it... whether I should be or not Yes, I do think gore and gore and more gore is the way to watch something like Supernatural. Hell, when the episode "Misery Loves Me" was out, there was a claim that coming out of Supernatural that had to do with infesting a TV set into someone's brain with brainworms. Was that true or not? I completely forgot about that. I did watch that episode because it was awesome and I remember wanting to find out more about it. The classic way to watch Supernatural is to just binge a few episodes. Then you'll finally see where the episodes are going and may question your own sanity. ^_^

Transcripts are available for certain episodes to give a little more context and to help. There is a program named Silent-E to remove the dialogue. Spoiler for tiny/long: Episode 25 "Swan Song" appears to not have the same number of lines as its counterparts, but you can see where its going. The ending is SO important in discovering the fate of the characters. ---> The Silent-E is still on. Are your sensitive? Turn it off. It's not that way in movies like Blade Runner that actually have really low lines.

_____ Death's dark waters are calling me. I wonder what would happen if I was to cease to exist....I doubt it would do much to the universe. If you watch the episode "Swan Song" and look you will see that there are a few extra lines in the last part. I was listening to the commentaries and got really freaked out and couldn't listen to it all, so the next day I watched it with the dialogue on.
