I have a local user, and an online user on the same system, the only difference being that the online user is added to the sudoers file. I am having problems that seem to be caused by the way the online user is added. I can login as the local user without a problem, but logging in as the online user causes the local user to be kicked out of the session, as though it had never logged in. I have tried logging out of the remote user, and when I log back in I get the following messages: * The system is running in low-graphical mode. * The system is running in low-graphical mode. * A system reboot is required. System restarting soon... I suspect that the logging in remotely is not working because I am not getting a screen.

The session is starting the following way: $PATH=$PATH:/usr/sbin:/sbin:/usr/local/sbin:/usr/local/bin:/usr/X11R6/bin/  Apparmor disabled. **
Defaulting to userland IEEE 802.1x networks and ethernet switch ports.  Users may use 'noauth' or 'restricted' when connection to internal servers is made.  Setting up early startup services. **

You can download it from here. This invention is directed to an insecticidal treatment for foods, more specifically, to an additive for water-based and oil-based solutions. Insecticidal and repellent properties have been employed in traditional foods and beverages. To example, beans (Fabaceae) have a sagin (Labeo and Bius) and rustip (Strophosseca) among many types of small flying insects that can infest the fruit. There are, however, no effective insecticides that are formulated into traditional foods or beverages to prevent this problem. The existing systems of utilization of these foods (e.g., pickle, drinks, etc.) do not provide the desired outcome of suppressing populations of these pests. The results are individuals over-consumption of substances due to practices of purchasing drinks, or commercially unavailable, or which are difficult to access because of packaging, etc. It is the intent of this invention to provide both a product and a method for the use of this product to protect susceptible foods from the pests infesting them. The invention comprises a treatment for infested foods and beverages. The treatment comprises an insecticidal agent and a carrier; said insecticide being an insecticidal composition comprising a mixture of para-nonyl phenyl, p-chlorophenyl-S-glutathione, and ethyl 2-hydroxyethyl sulfide. The insecticide is applied to the food material in a ratio of 1 part insecticide to approximately 5-20 parts of inert carrier. The mixture is preferably applied via spray or dip treatment of the food material. In one embodiment the food is a pickled vegetable material such as soybeans, cucumber, radishes, bean sprouts, garlic, basil, etc. Preferably, the treatment is applied only after the food has been subject to storage in order to prevent cross contamination with untreated food. Other objects and advantages of the invention will be apparent from the following description, the accompanying drawings, and the claims.
