Chronos: Before the Ashes is a sci-fi horror adventure game set in a dystopian future where humans live in a slave state and time is measured and controlled by robotic machines called "timekeepers" (a riff of Deep Blue, the AI who beat Gary Kasparov at chess, a theme that ties into the root of our game's name). The player takes on the role of Niccolò, the boy scout from the game's story line. The player encounters characters with divergent backgrounds, from a timekeeper in a laboratory to a femme fatale who plans to overthrow the state with her followers. The game's atmosphere is subtle, and challenges the player's perception of the world around him. It tells you to trust your instincts and act as if the state is not currently aware of your movements. Features: 1. 19 quality tracks in the Soundtrack to Chronos: Before the Ashes. 2. Several planned features of the game, such as day/night cycles, a health system, unique enemies and more. 3. Music as the main element of the game's plot. 4. Full Screen mode. 5. Player Choice. 6. Light Music. 7. An Original New Soundtrack by Javier Oliva Mena ( Supporting the following locations: Amazon.es: Apple.es: Google Play: G2A: Steam: Thank you for the interest you showed. *** Enjoy the game and feedback would be appreciated! This is a game that is born in a cup of coffee, a session of brainstorming, and hours of work. During the session, many ideas were reviewed, and we decided that we wanted to develop a game that everyone could play, learn and have fun. To that purpose, we incorporated some of the principles and elements of our favorite games and combined with the design of Flashlight. Gameplay: Fast-paced and easy to learn, yet hard to master. It has a high action-arcade appeal, and a "solo" mode in which you can focus entirely on mastering its gameplay and tactics. Play in versus mode with up to 4 players, against friends or AI. Music: A powerful selection of music that matches this fast-paced and action-driven adventure. The time has come to kick the year off with a bang, and here's the game of the year as voted by our community. FEEL FREE TO CHANGE THE ORDER OF THE LIST Winner: Fast-Paced, Action-Arcade, Platform-Fighter with an early-Atari inspired minimalistic design. With 2 buttons and a joystick, defeat your foes (or friends) in a simple, yet satisfying way. Run along the walls and approach from all angles to land satisfying, one-hit-kills to win. With heavy emphasis on being accessible to all levels of skill yet maintaining its capacity to be played competitively. Features Omnidirectional Gameplay - Collide with any wall while in the air to snap to it and run along any surface. Change gravity and approach your target from any direction. Two Button Combat - Jump and attack. Aerial and direction attack maximises what you can do with only 1 attack button. Versus Mode - Play a 1v1 or a 2v2 or a 1v3. Play any combination you could think of with 4 players. Play versus Friends or AI. Rebindable Keys - Play with controllers or with keyboard and mouse. You could even use both at the same time with the option to bind any actions to any keys. • In this cooperative game, players will work together to defend their cities against supernatural threats, including demons, ghosts, and vampires. • Use bluffing and misdirection to outwit your opponent, even if they know the threat you are facing. • Change the rules to play a quick game or a longer, more strategic one. • You can bring up to 5 friends to play with and share the excitement and fun of the game! Product Description The White Councils grey cloaks, the Wardens, join the fray in this expansion for the Dresden Files Cooperative Card Game! This expansion includes two new character decks Carlos Ramirez and Anastasia Luccio and two new book decks Small Favor and Turn Coat. General Information On Boarding This product is intended for ages 12+ Players will discover new areas where their powers overlap and develop new strategies to use that expanded set of skills. Players will work together to defend the city from supernatural threats. Help your allies through the campaign, or earn points to win the game! Players will play through a series of short stories to help their own characters gain power. Players can bring up to 5 friends to play with and share the excitement and fun of the game! Players are introduced to their teammates and to the cards in their hand and the game board in play. Players can also place hands of cards on the table to make their hand visible and to gain an immediate action. In-game Play The game is designed to take between 2 and 4 players. There are four main scenarios, each with its own special rules. You can play through any number of stories and characters, perusing the card deck you brought to play. You can choose to play through the stories from "Small Favor" and "Turn Coat" or you can pick any stories from the alternative card deck. At the beginning of the game, players will pick a Favourite Character and a Sidekick Character. Your Favourite Character represents the flavor of your character and might provide insights or special abilities that no other characters have. It also acts as your "home" character on the game board. Your Sidekick Character represents an ally that you can call upon in battle or who may provide insight into the game. Each round in the game you will roll an ability die or skill die, then give your Favour

What's new:

More than 1.5 million people are taking MDMA every year, however, the way it's being sold results in toxic results. The only guidance we have to know what's safe is the Psychotherapeutic Drugs Act, which gives us some caution, but not a lot. An important place to turn might be to the designer drugs, since most of them are not included. On the other hand, there's a compelling argument to include them in a national policy that will provide some certainty. We have to take a hard line with both MDMA and other opioids and hallucinogens. All of them should be made legal, but be offered through safer systems. They can be sold via pharmacies, regulated by the federal and local governments who determine correct doses, etc. The cost of more expensive medicines could be passed on to the consumers. The only law that will stop money tied to drugs is any new drug or addiction center that stops making money off the drugs. It doesn't have to be perfect, it just can't involve customers. On addicting drugs: MDMA ISN'T ADDICTING MDMA is not a 'club drug.' There have always been people who had psychedelic experiences, and who became addicted to drugs, however, this exists for every single illegal drug (See chart, "MDMA I'm a Club Drug"). MDMA ISN'T A 'NOTHING TO SAY' DRUG MDMA users are already expressing that they need to talk about their experiences, even if they don't finish the session. MDMA users report decreased use of substances later in life, and MDMA is the only substance that decreases desire for others. SSRI'S WERE NEVER MEANT TO BE USED FOR RECOVERY! MDMA use often leaves 30% of people unable to take anything for symptoms, or to count on their correct dosage of their medicine. MDMA DOES NOT MAKE RECOVERY HAPPEN MDMA does not make people well, nor does MDMA always make people who are well feel better, some use it to help other symptoms, and some use it to find recovery. MDMA CAN'T MAKE YOU FEEL BETTER MDMA gives this illusion of feeling great but people do not experience this until years after they've stopped using MDMA. HOM

Some pretty creative stuff made it into the blender, and the resulting pot of goop is ready to be poured over your face. Please make sure you wear a comfortable, loose fitting, and preferably something with a pleather handle. You are Twitchy, a schizo little t-rex looking creature that gets caught in his own chompers. The animal world has just suffered a traumatic brain injury, and Twitchy, with its wild-eyed look and hyperactive nature, is the perfect solution. In short, Twitchy's a place of wonderment and chaos, a world where he finds comfort in being a menace to all he sees. The world of Twitchy is a place full of monsters, mischief, and constant danger. The good news? You're in control. Your engine of destruction has everything you need to handle everything that stomps, bites, runs, or leaps on your face. Simply avoid the hazards by ducking, turning, and dropping through hidden doors and passageways. Explore the bustling streets of Twitchy as you explore the world, scouring for collectibles and interacting with the inhabitants of this strange and marvelous place. You will be in for quite a ride if you do so. Backstory: It was originally going to be a scrolling shooter, but due to certain imponderables that crept into the game development scope it morphed into more of a first person point of view experience. Part of this is because I was designing the game thinking it would be set in a much larger environment, but it's only the first few levels, and Twitchy is relatively alone, unlike the environments in, say, Galaxy on Fire, which I was designing around the idea of a player teaming up with other ships to fight against similar fleets. So as I designed things, it just worked better for me to have him swimming in a much larger place than I had originally anticipated, and to me, the best way to describe it is that it becomes a rhythmic, almost meditative pattern, where you're just coasting into the blocks, trying to keep him facing the right direction. It's a small, little game, and I expect it to go away after a week or so, and having all of the zombies in the game with a terribly weak female lead seemed like a bad idea to me, so I condensed the backstory to be about how he got stuck in such a place. Also, I know it's original, but
