Saint-Suliac-sur-l'Ouvèze Saint-Suliac-sur-l'Ouvèze is a former commune in the Maine-et-Loire department in western France. On 15 January 2016, it was merged into the new commune of Saint-Suliac. Geography Saint-Suliac-sur-l'Ouvèze is located in a deep valley carved into the volcanic rock, forming a plateau of about 30 metres at an elevation of 150 metres, north of Sainte-Christine-sur-le-Mignon. It is surrounded by vineyards and by the buildings of the commune. The river Ouvèze flows through the commune. History The village appears on a 1236 herbarium. Population Sights The village is known for its beehives, which produce about 400 kg of honey each year. The two church bell towers of the church have been classified since 1963 as a monument historique. Notable people A number of people have held official posts in the area. Pierre Le Pair, "Cabinet of the Ministers of the realm", was born in the village on 25 December 1658. A commemorative plaque has been placed in the village to commemorate the occasion. It has also been the birthplace of: Pierre de Thouars, (1605-1676), soldier and author. He is thought to have written a number of books during his long stay in the French colonies, including the Vie des expéditions galantes de M. de Thouars à l'Amérique et l'Asie.
